Daylilies Bloom at Arrasmith Farm

Arrasmith Farm, 3595 Fender Road, is holding open field daylily sales on Fridays and Saturdays through July 7th from 10-5 and on other days by appointment. The farm's web-site www.arrasmithfarm.com contains additional information and pictures of some of the farm's daylily varieties. Information is also available by phone (859-630-1711).

CSI appreciates Arrasmith Farm's sponsorship of this issue of the Camp Springs News and encourages readers to visit this and other local farms and businesses this summer.

In the Know With www.campsprings.com

It may be hard to believe, but the "unofficial" web-site of Camp Springs has now been in existence for over 14 years. What started out as a fun "project" for me has become a more structured and consistent resource for those who have a passion for the Four Mile area. At www.campsprings.com you'll find information on local churches and school, archived photos and articles, and a blog covering current events. The web-site is also a great place to learn about the rich history of Camp Springs. The Don Baumann articles provide a terrific genealogical lesson on many of our local families.

Thanks to all who have participated and supported the site up to now. For any newcomers, I hope that you take time to visit www.campsprings.com and more importantly, become part of it. Share your comments on our blog entries and let us know about upcoming events from your church or organization. Photo and story contributions are always welcome. Looking forward to hearing from you at joe@campsprings.com!
